High data throughput with low visibility

HUBER+SUHNER adds a new antenna to its small cell antennas portfolio, which is known for its high performance, easy installation and compact design. SENCITY® Urban 200 MIMO 4x4 directional antenna is an excellent solution for wireless operators and installers in the small cell industry who require increased network coverage in a limited space.

Challenge: Small cell installation and operational costs are increasing because of rising rental rates.

Solution: Antenna for in-/outdoors

Application: IBC/DAS, department store, street furniture in small cells

Technology: Radio frequency

High performance

Utilizing MIMO 4x4 with 11 dBi Gain in 5G C Band frequency range, the new SENCITY Urban 200 MIMO 4x4 antenna ensures high-quality and reliable data throughput, providing maximum network coverage capacity for small cell applications.

Maximize space

SENCITY Urban 200 MIMO 4x4 antenna's compact design makes it ideal for an urban environment in applications, such as street furniture, where space is limited and discreet placement with low visible impact is inevitable.

Easy installation

SENCITY Urban 200 MIMO 4x4 antenna offers fast and effortless installation in all types of street furniture with versatile one-click bracket mounting options for poles, walls and enclosures, freeing up time for resources to be utilized elsewhere.
